

Contents

Table of Figures	i
List of Abbreviations.....
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Spatialising home	2
1.2 The secondary forced displacement of Palestinian refugees and why it matters.....	4
1.3 The research journey: Research questions and approach.....	6
1.4 Outline	7
2 Home and Forced Migration Studies	11
2.1 Introduction	11
2.2 Nationalising the home.....	12
2.3 The production of space	17
2.4 Spaces of exception and home-making.....	18
2.5 Discussion	23
3 Reflections on the Research Process.....	25
3.1 Introduction	25
3.2 Thinking space	25
3.3 Empirical research.....	28
3.3.1 The field	29
3.3.2 The interview	31
3.3.3 The interview space	34
3.3.4 Interpretation and data analysis	36
3.4 Archival research.....	38
3.5 Legal research.....	39
3.6 Discussion	40

4	Spatial History and the Making of the Palestinian Refugee	41
4.1	Introduction	41
4.2	A genealogy of the nation-space	43
4.3	Colonial statecraft in the Levant	47
4.3.1	Ottoman Empire and Greater Syria	50
4.3.2	British Mandate Palestine	54
4.3.3	Palestinians and the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan	57
4.4	Multiple displacements	62
4.4.1	1948 The nakba.....	63
4.4.2	1967 Arab-Israeli war	68
4.4.3	2011 The conflict in Syria	72
4.5	Discussion	75
5	The International Space: Legal and Humanitarian Protection.....	79
5.1	Introduction	79
5.2	Approaching law and space.....	80
5.3	International refugee protection	85
5.3.1	The space of departure	86
5.3.2	The border space	92
5.3.3	The space of asylum and protection	95
5.4	The exclusion of Palestinian refugees from the international refugee protection	96
5.4.1	Normative separation.....	97
5.4.2	Institutional separation.....	100
5.5	Discussion	105
6	The National Space: Citizenship, Statelessness and (Im)Mobility.....	107
6.1	Introduction	107
6.2	Regional refugee protection	110

6.2.1	Palestinian refugees in Syria.....	112
6.2.2	Palestinian refugees in Jordan.....	117
6.3	Palestinian-Syrian refugees in Jordan.....	119
6.3.1	Palestinian refugees with Jordanian citizenship.....	121
6.3.2	Mixed-status families.....	125
6.3.3	Statelessness and the absence of a territorial homeland.....	127
6.4	Individual mobility and collective immobility.....	131
6.5	Discussion.....	136
7	The Camp Space in Jordan.....	139
7.1	Introduction.....	139
7.2	Between extraterritoriality and urban camps.....	142
7.2.1	Jabal Al Hussein Camp.....	143
7.2.2	Baqa'a Camp.....	146
7.2.3	Porous boundaries - blurred categories.....	151
7.3	Exceptional governance.....	154
7.3.1	Spatial negotiations of control.....	158
7.4	Multileveled exclusion.....	161
7.4.1	Social exclusion.....	163
7.4.2	Institutional exclusion.....	168
7.5	Discussion.....	170
8	The Lost Space: Syria and Palestine.....	173
8.1	Introduction.....	173
8.2	Yarmouk – the diaspora capital [asimat al-shatat].....	176
8.2.1	Dwellings.....	179
8.2.2	Everyday life.....	181

8.3	Commemoration and belonging – Galilean thyme and Damascene jasmin.....	184
8.4	The lost homes and the right to return	186
8.5	Discussion	194
9	Conclusion.....	197
9.1	Findings.....	197
9.2	Contributions to the field.....	205
9.3	Concluding thoughts	207